

KILLED IN AUTO AS HE LEANS OUT; HEAD HITS POLE

Astoria Man, Hurdled Off
Truck, Dies—Another Victim Nearly Decapitated

Seized with sudden illness in an automobile, John Hammond, thirty-two, of No. 1258 Nelson Avenue, Bronx, leaned from the car and his head struck a telegraph pole on the Albany Post Road near Peekskill. He died instantly and his body was thrown from the car. William Neely of No. 1812 Harrison Avenue, Bronx, who was driving the car, was held in $2,000 bail to await the outcome of the coroner's inquest.

Injured by being thrown from the rear of an automobile truck, Christian Schoepf, fifty-three, of No. 202 Eighth Avenue, Astoria, is dead in the Long Island City Hospital. Schoepf was on the rear of a truck driven by Edward Dorsch of No. 440 Twelfth Avenue, Astoria, and when the truck took the Astoria Avenue and 15th Street corner Schoepf was thrown off.

On the eve of his twentieth wedding anniversary, George Spitz, forty-five, of Somers Point, N. J., was killed when his delivery automobile crashed into a heavy truck. Spitz, with his two sons, was on his way home, having served a bread route in Pleasantville. He failed to notice the truck ahead. The tailboard of the truck smashed through the windshield of the delivery automobile, and, catching the baker beneath the chin, almost tore his head off. The boys were unhurt.

Harry Lewis, nine, of No. 559 East 161st Street, Bronx, suffered a fractured leg and possible internal injuries when he was run down by an automobile near his home. To avoid a collision with another machine, Rufus Holbrook of No. 164 Ackroyd Avenue, Jamaica, Queens, swerved his car and sent it into a telegraph pole on Power House Road, Roslyn, L. I. Mr. Holbrook suffered a broken leg, and Otto McIntyre of No. 57 Hillcrest Avenue, Jamaica, a broken left knee when they were thrown from the car. They were taken to the Nassau Hospital, Mineola. Holbrook was not hurt.

A Fifth Avenue bus was in collision with a touring car at Fifth Avenue and 72d Street, the two passengers of the bus escaping uninjured, but the three persons in the touring car were hurt. Dr. Harpe of Presbyterian Hospital bound up their injuries. They were Percival Planteroth, sixty-one, of No. 2614 4th Street, Corona; his son, Alexander H. Planteroth, and his daughter, Miss Harriet Planteroth, both of No. 162 25th Street, Elmhurst.

While riding a bicycle in the East Drive, Central Park, near 110th Street, Nicholas Davis, fifteen, of No. 221 East 88th Street, ran into an automobile driven by Saul J. Senter of No. 600 West 151st Street, scattering the injured boy to Mount Sinai Hospital. Several of his ribs are fractured and he was injured internally.
